

BCM ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Beverley Clifton Morris is committed to achieving a high standard of environmental awareness at all levels within the organisation and to promoting environmentally responsible practice both within the workplace and beyond. Beverley Clifton Morris believes that everyone has a part to play in safeguarding and enhancing the environment.

The guiding principles of Beverley Clifton Morris's Environmental Policy are that we will:

- Protect and enhance the natural environment wherever possible.
- Encourage sustainable use of natural resources at all times.
- Strive for continual improvement in the environmental performance of all aspects of our business.
- Reduce waste generation where practical and all waste will be disposed of responsibly.
- Comply with all relevant legislation worldwide and adopt internal standards based on international best practice.
- Encourage all staff to adopt energy, water and resource efficiency and conservation measures.
- Promote awareness of environmental issues amongst staff, clients and other interested parties.
- Only select contractors who have acceptable environmental standards.
- Promote environmentally sympathetic design and construction practices wherever possible.
- Promote the use of environmentally sustainable modes of transport.
- Commit to the prevention of pollution

Beverley Clifton Morris aims to develop and refine its environmental policy by remaining abreast of current and future best practice developments and corporate environmental standards. To this end it supports the work of organisations such as the Environmental Council, CIRIA, The Institute of Wastes Management, The Institute of Environmental Management, The British Urban Regeneration Association.
